

2010 CCSC Southwestern Region Conference

Friday, March 26

1:30 pm	Registration – Nelson Room
2:00 pm (90 min)	Opening Session – Nelson Room Introduction: Dr. Myungsook Klassen, 2010 Conference Chair Welcome: Dr. Joan Griffin Dean, College of Arts and Sciences, Cal Lutheran Keynote Address: Dr. Andrew Begel Microsoft Research Three Things Every CS Educator Should Know About Their Students' Future Careers in Software Development
3:30 pm (60 min)	Paper Session – D9 Session Host: Ani Nahapetian From Ada to Zuse: A European Travel-Study Course on Technology Kim Kihlstrom, Westmont College EVOICES: A Website Supporting Outreach by Attracting Target Groups to Computer Science through Culturally Relevant Themes Diana Franklin, UC Santa Barbara	Tutorial – D14 Session Host: Stephanie E. August Introduction to Computer Science using Alice 2.0 Erik Amerikaner, Oak Park High School
4:30 pm (15 min)	Break – D13 Vendor display in D building Hallway
4:45 pm (60 min)	Paper Session – D9 Session Host: Kim Kihlstrom College Student Views of Computer Science: Opinion Survey Anatole Ruslanov, SUNY Fredonia	Tutorial – D14 Session Host: Paul McQuesten Teaching Undergraduates to Analyze Systems in Multiple Domains Using Modeling and Simulation Exercises Michael Doherty University of the Pacific
6:00 pm - 7:30	Dinner – Nelson Room CCSC Southwestern Region business meeting: Nominations for Regional Representative and Secretary Candidates' statements

2010 CCSC Southwestern Region Conference

Saturday morning, March 27

8:00 am	Registration – D building Hallway (entire day) Breakfast – D13
9:00 am (75 min)	Invited Presentation – Overton Hall Session Host: Ani Nahapetian Dr. Paul Dourish University of California at Irvine Computational Thinking and Interdisciplinary Encounters
10:15 am (15 min)	Break – D13 Vendor displays in D building Hallway Student poster set-up in D8
10:30 am (90 min)	Paper Session – D9 Session Host: June Porto The LINQ between XML and Databases: A Gentle Introduction Suzanne Dietrich, Arizona State University Designing A College-Level PL/SQL Programming Course Penn Wu, Cypress College Database Project as Source of Reinforcement and Discovery Stephanie E. August, Loyola Marymount University	Workshop – D14 Session Host: Tzu-Yi Chen Cooperative Learning for CS1 and Beyond: Making It Work for You Leland L. Beck and Alexander W. Chizhik, San Diego State University

2010 CCSC Southwestern Region Conference

Saturday afternoon, March 27

12:00 n (60 min)	Student Poster Session – D8 Box Lunch pickup in D13
1:00 pm (90 min)	Paper Session – D9 Session Host: G. Michael Barnes Interdisciplinary Science of Design Curriculum Development Process: An Analysis of Faculty Evaluation Guy-Alain Amoussou, Humboldt State University Algorithm for Writing Efficient Recursive Functions in Assembly Languages Salam Salloum, Cal Poly , Pomona A Preliminary Comparative Analysis of Computer Architecture Courses Across the Nation's Top Schools Elodie V. Billionniere, Arizona State University	Paper – D14 Session Host: Mike Doherty Logic Programming with Generalized Quantifiers Peter Gabrovsky, CSU Northridge Enhancement of Computer Science Introductory Courses with Mentored Pair Programming Strategy Jianchao Han, CSU Dominguez Hills Panel – D14 Teaching Methodology of Artificial Intelligence and Related Subjects: Meeting Industry's Needs Stephanie E. August Loyola Marymount University Jim Blythe University of Southern California Peter Gabrovsky CSU Northridge
2:30 pm (15 min)	Break – D13 Vendor Displays in D building Hallway
2:45 pm (75 min)	Invited presentation – Overton Hall Session Host: G. Michael Barnes Dr. Guy-Alain Amoussou NSF Program Officer, Undergraduate Education Seeking NSF Funding Opportunities
4:00 pm (30 min)	Closing business – Overton Hall Election Announcements: Ani Nahapetian Student Poster Awards: Kim Kihlstrom
4:30 pm	Adjourned. Travel safely.... See you next year! 😊	